Creating Connections for Caring Families

Looking for Afterschool Programs

at your child's school?

Given what afterschool programs do for youth and our nation's focus on the needs of children, you might think that afterschool programs exist in every community. They don't. Nearly two-thirds of parents report difficulty in finding quality, affordable programs. Twice as many elementary and middle school parents want afterschool programs as are currently available.

Working in conjunction with the Central Texas Afterschool Network \(CTAN\), Your Community Guide has posted and maintained information on local afterschool providers since 2005. We currently track Afterschool programming for school districts in the Central Texas/Austin Metro area. We define afterschool programs as ones that either offer transportation or are held onsite at a specific school campus they serve.

Select a school district (below) for a listing of all schools with their afterschool programs. The listed programs either offer transportation or are held onsite. Many other programs are available with no transportation options.
